Anyone see the news about this? Happened just yesterday, wasn't worse only because one of the staff was still on site and heard noise. According to the article, it sounds like a few prior incidents escalated to arson and vandalism. I'd say I'm angered but not surprised at how the local police are refusing to call this a hate crime even with video evidence.

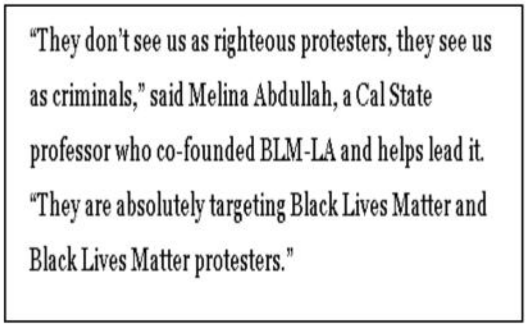
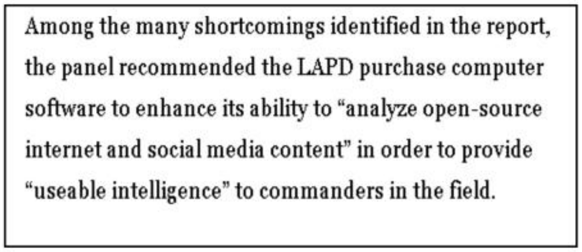
BLM-LA says increased LAPD monitoring of protesters would mean further harassment



"They don't see us as righteous protesters, they see us as criminals," said Melina Abdullah, a Cal State professor who co-founded BLM-LA and helps lead it. "They are absolutely targeting Black Lives Matter and Black Lives Matter protesters."



Among the many shortcomings identified in the report, the panel recommended the LAPD purchase computer software to enhance its ability to "analyze open-source internet and social media content" in order to provide "useable intelligence" to commanders in the field.

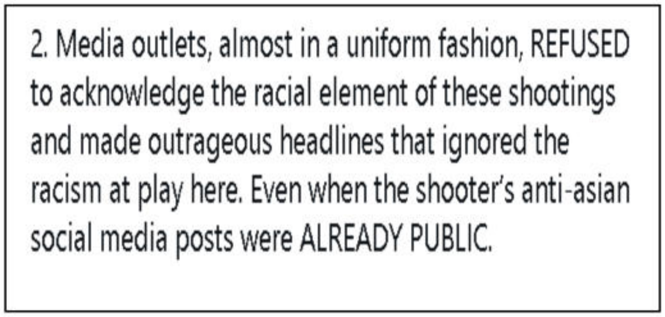
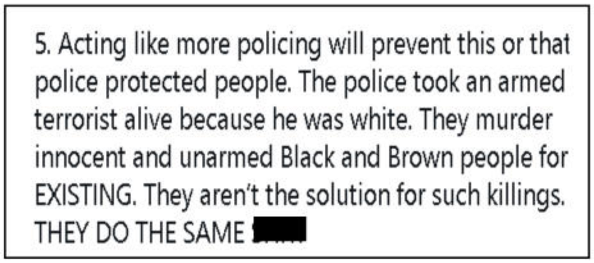
This Anti-Asian murder spree by a white supremacist has me [redacted] up. There are so many infuriating layers.

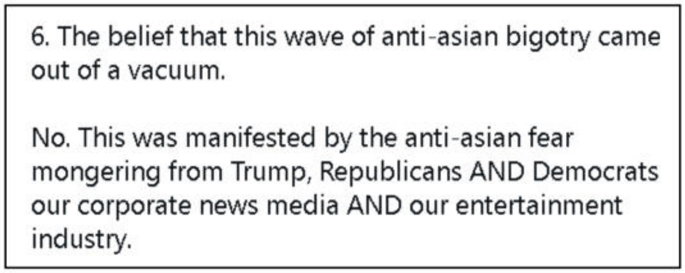
1. The police are sympathetic to a racist and sexist mass murderer and validate the practice of fetishizing asian women by even bringing up the phrase "sex addiction".



2. Media outlets, almost in a uniform fashion, REFUSED to acknowledge the racial element of these shootings and made outrageous headlines that ignored the racism at play here. Even when the shooter's anti-asian social media posts were ALREADY PUBLIC.



5. Acting like more policing will prevent this or that police protected people. The police took an armed terrorist alive because he was white. They murder innocent and unarmed Black and Brown people for EXISTING. They aren't the solution for such killings. THEY DO THE SAME [redacted]



6. The belief that this wave of anti-asian bigotry came out of a vacuum.

No. This was manifested by the anti-asian fear mongering from Trump, Republicans AND Democrats our corporate news media AND our entertainment industry.

New York is now the first city in the country to end qualified immunity for cops.

The measure was passed as part of a package of police reform bills.

Some of the other bills would require the NYPD to issue a quarterly report on all traffic stops and would shift crash investigations that involve serious injury to the Department of Transportation.
